R2 Agro A/S acquires Cabanin-products and NoxiGuard from Nor-Feed A/S

It is with great pleasure that we can inform you that R2 Agro A/S as of the 1st June 2014 has acquired the Cabanin-products and the technologies behind this product range.

The Cabanin-products are patented and thoroughly tested, and already today they are included in several feed producers product range and sold in large parts of the world.

The products consist of dried, pulverized parts of plants and natural plant extracts. Typically the extracts are rich in natural as well as in fat and water-soluble antioxidants and have a considerable content of other interesting elements affecting the health of animals and thus their productivity positively.

In R2 Agro we see an international potential for these products and soon more will be added to our product range. In the near future we will be able to present a new patent pending combination product NoxiFerm, where tests with chickens and piglets have shown markedly improved production results.

We are looking forward to presenting the new possibilities at a technical meeting in the autumn 2014 and at our booth H16E16 at EuroTier in Hannover the 11th - 14th November 2014.
